LANDWRX IRM-8R SEEDER

Inter seeding is the process of sowing cover crops into an already growing main crop, such as maize. Typically, this is carried out 4-6 weeks after planting. The advantages to sowing a cover crop at this stage are:

- Avoids the herbicide residue window
- The cover crops do not compete early on with the main crop, avoiding any yield reduction.
- Builds soil health and structure
- Prevents soil erosion
- Removes the risk of establishing a cover in the Autumn

Drills available in 6,8,10 & 12 row versions
